

Roosevelt May Revive Defeated Reorganization

No Indication Given That Definite Decision Reached
—Rayburn Says No "Must"
Put on It

No Program

Senate Leader Says Remainder of Session Is on Day-to-Day Basis

Washington, May 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt discussed with congressional leaders today the possibility of reviving his once-defeated government reorganization bill, but there was no indication a definite decision was reached.

"We discussed reorganization, but there was no 'must' put on it," Representative Rayburn (D-Tex.), House majority leader, said on leaving the White House.

Other conferees reported there was a general discussion of the congressional situation and that some believed the legislators should be able to quit early next month.

Asked about the remainder of the program, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the Senate majority leader, said:

"There is no definite program for the remainder of the session. We are on a day to day schedule. While bills are understood to have been started in the House to ascertain sentiment on revival of the reorganization bill, Senator Barkley said he knew of no such tabulation being made in the Senate. Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead also participated in the legislative conference.

Indications of increased willingness in Congress to follow the President's leadership on most issues have encouraged administration leaders to believe the bill might be pushed through at this session. The House pigeonholed the measure last month, but two Democratic members now are conducting a survey to determine whether there has been any change of sentiment.

Rayburn Favors
Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas commented:

"I would be glad to have a reorganization bill passed at this session, but we are not sure yet whether we will try to revive the controversy. If we get the bill up, it will pass."

Election-year pleas for early adjournment are increasing, however, and Democratic chiefs are making every effort to clear the congressional slate by the middle of June.

A Senate appropriations subcommittee, starting hearings today, hopes to send the administration's $2,154,000,000 relief bill to the Senate floor this week.

The appropriations group called Secretaries Wallace and Ickes for the first closed hearings. Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, will testify tomorrow.

Use Rubber Check To Purchase Shad From Mr. Lemister

Edward Forbes, 54, of Pine Hill, drove into Kingston on May 3, and visited the fishing grounds at Kingston Point where he purchased shad to the value of $10 from Theodore Lemister, well known shad fisherman. For the shad Forbes paid with a check of $10. The check, however, was of the rubber variety, and came bouncing back marked no funds.

Forbes was finally located in Pine Hill on Sunday and placed under arrest on a warrant sworn out here charging him with petit larceny. He was brought back to Kingston and this morning faced Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court.

Forbes entered a plea of guilty to the charge, and Judge Cahill imposed a fine of $20. Forbes said he would make good the check if given four or five days time. The court told him he had had since May 3 to make it good.

Other Cases

Earl Jacobs, 35, of Southbridge, Mass., arrested on a charge of panhandling, was given an opportunity of getting out of town. John Leonard of Johnstown and Clarence Boland of Jamestown, both negroes, arrested on a charge of vagrancy on East Union street, were given an opportunity of getting out of town within an hour.

Kreiser Honored

Berlin, May 16 (AP)—Fritz Kreiser, the Viennese violinist, received word today of his appointment as commander in the French Legion of Honor. Kreiser, who became a German subject through Austrian Anschluss, is the first German under the Nazi regime thus honored.

Britain Recalls Envoy

Owen St. Clair O'Malley, Great Britain's minister to Mexico, announced that he had been recalled by his government, completing the diplomatic break between Britain and Mexico. O'Malley (left) is shown in Mexico City discussing with Reuters Correspondent Harry Nichols the break of diplomatic relations between his country and Mexico, growing out of the oil expropriation dispute.

Synthetic Moonlight Comes as Lovers' Boon

Buffalo, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Synthetic moonlight which can be produced in the family parlor by the mere flick of a switch today appeared as a great boon for spooners.

Aubrey E. Noble, research engineer in gas tube lighting, explained it's all done with gas tube lighting which he and other research engineers are developing.

"We can produce synthetic daylight in the home with a combination of colored gas lighting," he asserted.

Silvery-blue rays of moonlight are produced by switching off all colors except blue in synthetic daylight.

Noble said synthetic moonlight was just a by-product and its discovery was incidental to the main aim of producing artificial daylight.

Synthetic daylight has been used with success, he declared, by florists in this city and New York for lighting their exhibits.

Dr. Van Norstrand Dies Sunday After A Week's Illness
Was Well Known Child Specialist—Had Been in Ill Health for Some Time

Dr. Harold L. Van Norstrand, one of the leading physicians of Kingston and Ulster county, died Sunday evening at the Benedictine Hospital where he had been undergoing treatment for about a week. Dr. Van Norstrand had been in ill health for several months, and no hope was held for his recovery when his condition gradually grew critical.

Dr. Van Norstrand was born in Tilton and after attending the school there entered old Kingston Academy. Following his graduation there he attended the Long Island Medical College, where he received his degree in 1921.

He began the practice of medicine in Kingston and for several years had his office and residence at 172 Clinton avenue. He specialized in the diseases of children and soon became widely and favorably known as a child specialist in addition to his regular medical practice.

During the years that he was located here, Dr. Van Norstrand built up a wide practice, and was a member of the medical staff of the Benedictine Hospital. He was also chief physician at the Industrial Home for a number of years and has served as Ulster county jail physician.

Dr. Van Norstrand was a Democrat in politics, and was active in the affairs of that party.

Of late Dr. Van Norstrand had been residing in the Franklin Apartments at 753 Broadway. During the years that he practiced his profession in Kingston he was held in high esteem not only by the general public but by his fellow physicians.

Seven "Angels" Escape Injury in Spill; Driver Held

Love Joy, 49, of New Paltz, one of Father Divine's white "angels," was held at the Ulster county jail over Sunday on a reckless driving charge, following an accident on the Rosendale boulevard, about a mile from Rosendale village.

Saturday night, the sedan driven by Love Joy and carrying seven of the Divine adherents, overturned, after pulling out of line, but no injuries were reported.

The Divine followers were on their way to a gathering at Hope Farm at Blue Mountain, near Saugerties, at the time of the upset. David Pothemus, of New Paltz, with whose car the sedan collided, pressed the reckless driving charge against Love Joy and the latter was arraigned before Justice Edward Brodsky. He pleaded not guilty and the hearing was adjourned until today.

While Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg, McCullough and Wenne were investigating the accident Leigh Coddington, of Gardiner, came along and according to the officers disregarded the flares that had been set out and narrowly missed several spectators as he drove past. He too was arraigned before Justice Brodsky, who fined him $25.

Well-Earned Honors

Hornell, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—When Paul Fedick, member of the Hornell High School band, goes to Albany May 8 to compete in a school music contest, it will be with well-earned honors.

Fedick went to Jamestown last week to compete in a railroad contest. His father, a pass. Through employ, furnished a pass. Through employ, furnished a pass. Through employ, furnished a pass.

At the same time views will be heard by the "countryside and towns" committee on several proposals, including one to provide constitutional authority for counties, towns, cities and villages to furnish unemployment relief.

Case of the Boxing Bear Being Heard In Supreme Court

Waldorf Brothers Sue Bus Line, Charging Crash Made Tame Bear Wild Animal Hard to Handle

Bear on Scene

Plaintiffs Bring Bear as Exhibit, Park Him in Front of Court House

The famous boxing bear cases which have created considerable stir in court for the past several days were moved this morning for trial and a jury was taken. It is alleged by the Waldorf brothers, Willie and Gustave, that Teddy the boxing bear which was the principal attraction in their vaudeville act was so badly injured in a motor crash on September 25, 1937, about a mile south of the village of Highland in the act. They charge that from a quiet, tame bear willing to put on the gloves and do a boxing act, that Teddy has become a wild and unmanageable partner who can no longer be used in the act.

Actions are brought by the Waldorf brothers and also George A. Hamid Enterprises, Inc., and George A. Hamid, Inc., the booking agency through which the act was being booked. The defendants were United Greyhound and Central Greyhound Lines, Inc., as well as the George A. Hamid Enterprises, Inc. Before the cases were moved to trial this morning however the complaints against the Hamid Enterprises and a defendant.

The actions arose over an accident which took place below Highland at 3:30 o'clock on the morning of September 25 last, when it is charged a truck on which the vaudeville act was enroute from Cobleskill to New York and a Greyhound bus collided.

Became Savage Animal

Prior to the accident the plaintiffs claim the bear "Teddy" was so well trained that he would box with his trainer but following the accident he became savage and can no longer be used. The bear was injured about the eyes and head.

In the actions Michael Nardone and A. J. Cook appear for the plaintiffs and the bus line is represented by Murphy, Aldrich, Guy and Broderick and N. LeVan Haver. Cleon B. Murray appeared for the Hamid Enterprises as defendant, until the complaint was dismissed against that defendant.

There was considerable discussion among Chief Court Officer Charles Newkirk's men when it was rumored that Teddy was to be brought into court as an exhibit and that the exhibit would be to be cared for by the court officers. It was reported that several of the officers began to feel an attack of illness coming on.

Tablet Unveiled to Dr. O'Meara at the Hospital Sunday

Physicians, Clergy and Professional Men Pay Tribute to Late Chief of Benedictine Hospital Staff

The program for the unveiling of the tablet in the Benedictine Hospital, Sunday, for the late Dr. Mark O'Meara brought forth words of praise from physicians, clergymen and professional men, who paid tribute to him as a servant of humanity whose untimely death deprived the hospital and the community of a skilled surgeon, a sympathetic friend and an excellent citizen.

Among those who spoke, on introduction of Dr. C. L. Gannon, master of ceremonies, were the Very Rev. Monsignor John J. Stanley, Dr. John F. Larkin, the Rev. Edmund Burke and the Hon. Philip Eiling, prominent member of the bar, and former collector of the port of New York. Mrs. Bernard Forst sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond R. Gross.

The tablet was unveiled by two-year old Marla Ann Hancock, granddaughter of Dr. O'Meara, as members of the immediate family and more than 150 friends stood in silence.

U.P.A. Showing Big Increases in Sales This Year

The quarterly report of the Ulster Provisioners Co-Operative Association, Inc., sponsors of the U.P.A. stores shows a volume of merchandise moving from the warehouse to the stores during the first three months of 1938 at 49.2 per cent of the total for the 12 months of 1937. This indicates that the goal for 1938 (double that of 1937) announced by Manager Spodick at the time of issuing the annual report in January will be exceeded, since the rate of increase is itself increasing.

The report of sales by the retail stores shows a 14 per cent increase from January 1 to May 31 over the corresponding period last year.

General Manager Frank Spodick stated, "We are gratified at the progress made by the warehouse organization, which is more than up to schedule and at the substantial increase in sales by the individual stores, in the face of adverse conditions, such as the continued recession in general business and employment. It proves to us that the building up of good will and consumer confidence over the long period of years that these local men have been in business, pays dividends."

"We are not affiliated with any other organization for the maintenance of prices."

Gasoline Blast Adds to Danger Of Fire Sunday

Two-Story Garage of Eugene L. Frederick Burns on Delaware Avenue — Fumes in Tank Truck Ignite

Shortly before 6 o'clock Sunday morning Frank J. McCausland, of 86 Crane street, was awakened by the crackling of flames and glancing out of his bedroom window he saw that there was a fire in the two-story garage of Eugene L. Frederick at the corner of Delaware avenue and Crane street. The flames appeared to be shooting out from the sedan auto parked in the garage.

Mr. McCausland hastily dressed and running out to the nearest fire alarm box turned in an alarm of fire.

Inside the garage was parked the sedan and also a gasoline tank truck, which fortunately was empty. This truck is used by Mr. Frederick in delivering gasoline to the various WPA jobs in the city.

As Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy reached the scene in response to the alarm he was met by Mr. McCausland who told the chief that there was a 300-gallon gasoline truck in the burning building. The chief immediately notified his men of the danger of an explosion.

During the progress of the fire an explosion of the gas fumes in the tank blew out one end. The heat from the fire was so intense that the McCausland house, some 25 feet away from the garage was blistered by the fire.

The truck and the sedan were destroyed in the fire and the garage itself was damaged badly.

Leaps to Death

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 16 (AP)—Pilot Alvin Kauder, of Omaha, told police that while he looked over the side of his cockpit his passenger, Ward C. Fritz, 22-year-old Omaha dancer, climbed onto a wing of the bi-plane last night and leaped 2,900 feet to his death.

Pennsylvania Primary Tuesday

Philadelphia, May 16 (AP)—Extraordinary police precautions were prepared today against irregularities when Pennsylvania votes tomorrow after a slam-bang primary campaign that may overshadow events to come in the presidential election of 1940.

At least two voices were raised in an appeal for observers from the U. S. Senate to join the police at polls in Philadelphia. State authorities in Philadelphia are taking extraordinary steps to preserve order and prevent tampering with the vote.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination, issued a statement "guaranteeing" to all citizens that their rights (to vote without coercion or interference) will be protected.

Meanwhile, candidates went at it in eleven-hour charges and counter charges—with a debate over whether Labor Leader John L. Lewis is a major issue—dominating some exchanges among warring Democrats.

Lewis and Senator Joseph P. Guiffey are backing Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy for the Democratic nomination for governor along with Mayor Wil-

Score Missing

Hotel Attaches Say "At Least Fifty" Registered at Outbreak of Fire

Atlanta, May 16 (AP)—Twenty-five persons were killed, 13 were injured and many others were missing in a fire which raged early today through the 5-story Terminal Hotel.

Fire Chief O. J. Parker said it was "the deadliest fire in the history of Atlanta."

With 25 bodies removed from the ruins, a list of scores of persons were unaccounted for under varying estimates of the registration.

Destruction of the hotel records and mutilation of the victims by falling timber and steel, hampered identification efforts.

The ruined walls stood as a menace to traffic and rescue workers. Police said a high wind would cause them to crumble.

Hope Cut Off

Collapse of the roof, plunging debris through charred floors to the basement cut off hope of survival for any who were trapped. Only the walls were left standing.

Hotel attaches said "at least fifty" were registered when the flames broke out with an explosion in the basement kitchen shortly after 3 a. m. (EST).

Fire Chief O. J. Parker said he was informed 65 were in the brick and frame building.

Five persons jumped from a fourth floor window, died of a broken neck.

Three other men were suffocated.

Chief Parker declined to speculate as to what the death toll would be when searchers completed a check of the debris.

A dozen hose lines still poured water through shattered windows at dawn. Ambulances were lined up in the plaza of the Southern railway station across a street from the hotel.

E. K. Guley, 48, special agent of the Department of Internal Revenue, and his wife were awakened by the smoke and heat and fled down a fire escape from the fourth floor.

Two Minutes More

"Two minutes more," Guley said, "and we would never have made it. I don't see how any of the others could have gotten out alive."

Mrs. Guy Coleman, employed at the Fulton county courthouse, was found semi-conscious on the second floor.

Charles Labon, bellhop at the hotel for 20 years, was on duty in the lobby when the fire broke out. He said a messboy in the (Continued on Page Two)

Chicago's Relief Funds All Spent; Cleveland's Crisis

Chicago, May 16 (AP)—With Chicago's relief funds exhausted, city and state officials were faced today with the problem of feeding 31,000 families, the Associated Press says.

Gov. Harry Horner said he would call a special session of the Illinois legislature to handle the relief situation. He planned to counter today with state department heads and legislative leaders before announcing a date.

Meanwhile, Leo M. Lyons, re-elected commissioner, was being powerless to prevent closing of Chicago's 23 relief stations Wednesday and suspension of the staff of the 1,908 persons on the staff.

Lyons asserted the needy families will be compelled to submit on federal surplus commodity foodstuffs. He said the commission had enough food on hand to feed each of the 31,000 families about a week.

Third Cleveland Crisis

Cleveland, May 16 (AP)—Cleveland faced its third relief crisis in three weeks today with officials negotiating for WPA aid and the council meeting to take relief funds from other budget.

City Relief Commission met today. Frank L. Rubina, said conference was being held with WPA officials on a proposal to give temporary WPA jobs to some 7,000 to 10,000 family heads now on direct relief.

This would provide for only part, however, of the 87,000 direct relief clients here and officials expected that city council would make up another emergency fund tonight to provide for the urgent cases. Some action results from a canvassing of the city's relief fund.

Hear Petition on Ulster-Sullivan Placing Property in Business Zone

The laws and rules committee of the common council will hold a public hearing Thursday evening at the city hall on the petition of Robert B. Van Gassbrook to place the property at 121 Wall street in the business district. This property was formerly used as a blacksmith shop, and Mr. Van Gassbrook is planning to use it as a grocery store. Recently Judge Harry E. Schrick granted a temporary injunction restraining the placing of the property in the business zone. The application for the order has been made by Mrs. Sylvia H. Bibb.

Mexican General Says Cardenas Now Inciting Revolt

Cedillo Charges the President Would Divert Attention From Troubles Caused Over the Oil Lands

Mexico City, May 15 (AP)—As a leader of the Agrarian League, General Saturnino Cedillo charged today President Cardenas was trying to "drive him to rebellion" by diverting public attention from troubles over expropriation of the foreign-owned oil industry.

Cedillo, who has an armed peasant following to whom he has allotted land on his estate in San Luis Potosi, broke with Cardenas last August and quit the ministry of agriculture.

There have been frequent rumors he was ready to lead a revolt against the government. The latest rumors this week, under virtual martial law, they named anti-aircraft guns on the roof of a building where there are public buildings.

The government was negotiating the situation to develop, informants contended, to camouflage its troubles over oil, eliminated on Friday by the breaking off of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

Owen St. Clair O'Malley, the British minister, tentatively set next Monday for his departure. Meanwhile, efforts were underway to adjust United States interests in the 17 British, American and Netherlands Companies which President Cardenas expropriated on May 18.

Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to Washington, expects to return to his post in mid-week after an "official" trip home to report on conversations with American officials.

It was believed he would try to get the United States oil interests, which value their Mexican holdings at $150,000,000, to take payment in ten years. The installations to be guaranteed by 60 per cent of Mexico's oil production.

25 Killed, 13 Hurt In Atlanta Fire

A basement kitchen screamed "Oh, Lady, fire," and he felt a muffled blast from below.

Almost immediately, he said, "smoke and flames streaked up. I ran to the elevator," he said, "and tried to get to warn some of the guests, but the flames spread so quick I had to jump from the elevator cage on the second floor and run."

The man on the switchboard, Ben L. Berry, 78, got burned trying to ring the phones. There wasn't anyone got out except those that jumped or got down the fire escapes.

E. S. Whitehead, a Southern Railway employee, said he was seated at a cafe counter in one corner of the building with a friend when they smelled smoke.

"My friend went below to investigate and came running back and said the place was on fire," he said. "I knew the cafe manager and grabbed the cash register with the idea of carrying it outside, but a sheet of flame forced me to drop it. It was all I could do to get out myself."

His friend escaped also.

Half Way Across Hill
Firemen found one man dead half way across a window sill. His pocketbook was partly burned and only the one name—Roberts—was found on a telephone bill.

Firemen described the death of what was apparently a family, father, mother, young son and daughter.

The woman was found sitting in a chair. The little girl knelt by the bed. The man and small boy were lying on the bed.

All were unidentified. The hotel, an old structure, had been remodeled in recent years. It was situated near the center of the Atlanta railroad yards, about five blocks from Five Points, the heart of the city.

Chief Parker, a gray-haired veteran, said it was the third fire in the last 20 years on the site. The block burned in 1908. The hotel was rebuilt. A basement fire damaged the structure several years later.

Fear for Lives of 40.
Firemen expressed belief as many as 40 might have died. Bodies were battered by the falling debris.

Bottles in a liquor store in the front of the hotel were broken and the alcoholic stream added fuel to the flames.

Friends and relatives, some weeping, stood about as the bodies were removed. One young woman appealed tearfully to Police Chief M. A. Hornsby for aid in locating a "Where was he?" the chief asked.

She pointed to the top of the hotel, at an end where the roof collapsed.

"In the third room from the corner," she said.

The chief shook his head. "Not a chance," he told her.

Rollo Pleads Guilty
Medford, Ore., May 15 (AP)—A citizen claimed ownership of the suit Ronald Rollo wore when he was arrested for burglary. The sheriff ordered it returned. Another man claimed Rollo's shoes and a third his shirt. By the time Rollo was to appear in court he was down to underwear and socks. The sheriff provided a pair of trousers, the jail washline a shirt and fellow prisoners a pair of shoes. Thus attired, Rollo pleaded guilty.

200 at Holy Name Breakfast Sunday

Some 200 members of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society were in attendance at the annual communion breakfast held at the Hotel Stuyvesant on Sunday morning, following the society's corporate communion.

City Judge Matthew V. Cahill, president of the society, after congratulating the membership on its splendid showing, turned the meeting over to the Hon. John M. Casbia, corporation counsel of the City of Kingston, who presided as toastmaster. Mr. Casbia, a life-long member of St. Joseph's parish, spoke most interestingly of his boyhood experiences and pointed out several in the audience who served as acolyte with him.

The first speaker presented by Mr. Casbia was the Rev. John D. Simmons, spiritual director of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society, who delivered a brief but inspiring address.

Introduced as a member of the staff of one of the greatest and most efficient law enforcement offices in the country, the Hon. Andrew C. McCarthy, assistant district attorney, Bronx county, New York city, proved himself one of the most eloquent speakers ever heard in this city, choosing as his subject, "Success."

Mr. McCarthy cautioned the fathers present that whatever degree of success they might attain in their businesses or professions they would be complete failures if they did not bring up their children as good citizens and God-fearing men and women. He drew a graphic word picture of the evils of the day, emphasizing with all the power of guarding our boys and girls against the temptations to which they are constantly exposed—the indecent literature, sensational tabloids, etc.—and urged that the parents set the proper example. Relating his experiences as a prosecutor, he made his audience fairly gasp at the criminal tendencies of the youth of today.

He declared the teaching of ungodly philosophies in the colleges of the country and traced the anti-Christ propaganda to its source in Moscow, disseminated through the press, the platform, the radio, and from seats of learning.

Although St. Joseph's Holy Name breakfast was a memorable one, it was unquestionably one of the most successful ever held by the society.

High Falls Man Gets Fine And Suspended Sentence

Frank Lawrence of High Falls was arrested Sunday by Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg and Winne on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by George Hendricks. He was arraigned before Justice Louis D. Sahler of Stone Ridge, who fined him $5 and gave him a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail.

Suspended Sentence of 30 Days Follows Fight

John Hoornbeek, 23, was arrested shortly after noon Sunday at High Falls by Deputy Sheriffs Brown and Winne, following a complaint by Jacob Hoornbeek of Krippebush that his sons were fighting. He was arraigned before Justice Chester Roosa of Lyonsville, was found guilty on a charge of assault in the third degree and sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster county jail. Execution of the sentence was suspended, however, pending good behavior.

St. Alphonsus Monastery at Esopus, the Rev. Hugo Hahn, the Rev. John Bryne, the Rev. Patrick McGowan, and the Rev. Albert Waible; Brothers McNally, Cornelia, Collins, O'Keefe and Prendergast of West Park.

The inscription on the tablet stated: "Affectionately dedicated to the memory of Mark O'Meara, M. D., F. R. C. S., who served humanity and the Benedictine Hospital for 30 years, until his death, February 6, 1937. Erected by medical staff of the Benedictine Hospital."

Apple Blossoms, Snow, in Catskills

Visitors to the Haines Falls and Tannersville region, in the Catskills, yesterday morning, had the rather unusual spectacle presented to them of apple trees in blossom while at the same time a snow-storm raged.

Between 7 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning it is said that snow fell sufficiently to whiten the ground.

There are between 200 and 250 of the Fuji Islands.

Fined $50 as a Drunken Driver

William T. Hannan, 29, of Cornwall, was brought to the Ulster county jail last night to serve 50 days in default of a fine of $50 imposed by Justice Roger H. Loughran, who found Hannan guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Hannan was arrested on Route 28 near the junction of the North and South Ashokan Boulevards by Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg, McCullough and Winne, after car owners who had been forced off the road by Hannan reported the matter to the sheriff's office.

Hannan had blown one of his tires and had stopped at a gas station to have it repaired, before continuing his trip to Fleischmanns. He had resumed his trip when the deputies caught up with him.

In addition to forcing a number of cars off the road, Hannan allegedly knocked several large oil cans off the highway in the Stony Hollow section, where the road is being rebuilt.

Youths Charged With Tire Theft

Robert Davis, 20, of 522 Broadway, and Dominic Jacobellis, 20, of 14 Clifton avenue, were arrested Sunday by Officers Barmann and Gramann on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. Both youths are charged with entering the garage of John T. Fredricks, Jr., at 62 Deyo street, and removing two tires from trucks parked in the garage.

One tire was valued at $20 and the other at $55. This morning in police court the hearing in both cases was set down for Tuesday morning. Both youths are out on bail.

BUSINESS FORMULA

The difference in spirit and attitude shown by the last Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington has been noticeable, and there was a greater change underneath, perhaps, then appeared on the surface. It was evidence of a growing determination among business leaders to depend less on the government, to spend less effort fighting it, and to devote their energies directly to doing all they could for themselves.

This attitude greatly impressed Washington columnists, particularly Paul Mallon, who describes the Chamber's "inside program" as one of "self-help, self-discipline and self-regulation."

It sounds a good deal like the formula for individuals in one of Tennyson's poems, "Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control," which three alone, said the poet, "lead life to sovereign power." He meant, of course, not autocracy but highest efficiency. It is a sound formula, whether in poetry or business.

SUPPORTING MAYOR HAGUE

The flood of criticism, anger and alarm which has arisen all over the country as a result of Mayor Hague's autocratic rule in Jersey City overlooks one important feature of the distressing situation. Mayor Hague alone could not suppress free speech. It is the acquiescence of many fellow-citizens and the active support of others that make possible his curious manifestation of despotism. As the New York Times comments: "It is not Mayor Hague that we have to fear. It is the existence of a substantial number of persons so short-sighted that they have as little respect for constitutional rights as he has."

At the close of the Constitutional Convention in 1787, Benjamin Franklin rose to move that it be signed. He made a thoughtful speech explaining his own attitude toward the new document. It was not perfect, but he believed that it was the best that any group of men with human "prejudices, passions, errors of opinion, local interests, and selfish views" could devise. He believed it could be administered as a "blessing to the people," and added that it would only end in despotism "when the people shall become so corrupted as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other." Jersey City, and other little areas of despotic rule, have got "that way" because citizens have become indifferent about decent, democratic government.

NEW ZEST FOR STUDY

New evidence of the public's great desire for knowledge and understanding is found in the surprising response made to a classroom lecture at Princeton. A senior student-tutor talked to a group of undergraduates on "How to Study". It is not an unusual subject. Boys and girls in high school and college freshmen these days nearly all have either a single lecture or a short course on the art of effective study.

In this instance, however, word of the tutor's lecture got into the newspapers. Immediately letters began to come in from many parts of the country and from persons of diverse occupations asking for helpful study hints for themselves. Those hungry for such aid include lawyers, office managers, grammar school teachers and many others.

The young instructor had planned to condense his material for wider college use. It looks now as though he will have to issue it in pamphlet form. He should not be too much surprised if it gets on the "best seller" lists. The story raises one disturbing thought. Why have so many intelligent people reached maturity without learning how to study?

REVOLT IN RIO

Getulio Vargas, whether Liberal or Fascist, is a brave man. His vigorous suppression of the palace revolt on the night of May 11 is in the best Latin-American tradition. We Norte-Americanos can spare him a round of vivas. Maybe we're getting our Portuguese twisted, but never mind. That defense of the presidential palace by Vargas and his sons and daughters, through a long and perilous night, armed only with pistols, against a small army of insurgents, picking off rebel after rebel from the darkened windows, is an episode worthy of Richard Harding Davis. The political ethics of the situation are not entirely clear at this distance. There is still a strong tendency in this latitude to regard Vargas as a Fascist, aiming to make the United States of Brazil—as big as our own country—totalitarian. He certainly has concentrated a good deal of power under the roof of that palace. Yet the insurgents in this case were "Green Shirt Integralists" reported as wearing rebel uniforms under the marine uniforms of the presidential guard, while attacking the man it was their sworn duty to guard.

"Integralist" seems to be the South American term for "Totalitarian". The rebels are charged, whether truly or not, with getting support from the Italian Fascists and German Nazis. There are about 1,500,000 Italians and 500,000 Germans in Brazil. Vargas has insisted that the government is still democratic, although he has had to use forcible measures in the capital and some outlying cities.

No, life isn't "just one dam thing after another," as the last generation used to say. Nowadays it's a flock of dam things all the time.

The political game begins to look like five-suit bridge.

The Duce and Fuehrer have sworn eternal friendship, which will last until somebody makes either of them a better offer.

Japan's next drive will be against domestic discontent.

"A top-heavy majority," observes a Democratic friend, "is hard to handle, but can stand an awful lot of whittling."

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

Of four brothers in a family, three died between the ages of 50 and 60. The remaining brother was asked why it was that he was still alive at the age of 74 and he replied, "Well, you see, I was the skinny one of the family, always underweight, and never had a good appetite."

One of the big points about this being thin and having no appetite is that the blood pressure is likely to be low, the individual will not feel like doing much mental or physical work, together with eating only small meals, will not put so much work on the heart, bloodvessels and kidneys.

Dr. A. Blaine Brower, Dayton, in the Ohio State Medical Journal, says, "Hypotension (low blood pressure) is not a disease, and if no symptoms are present, treatment is not required. When there are no symptoms nor complications after the age of 50, it is a pretty good sign that the patient will live beyond the normal span, because with less pressure of the blood, there is less strain on the heart and bloodvessels."

About 70 per cent of those with low blood pressure are underweight due to frequent attacks of influenza, taking loss exercise, heredity, or some low infection or other trouble in the body. As mentioned above then, if there are no symptoms nor complications, it is possible that the low blood pressure is a family characteristic. I have in mind a brother and sister, both well over 60, who have blood pressures twenty points below what is considered normal for their age, and they enjoy excellent health.

However, the individual who is in his thirties or forties should not be congratulating himself upon having a low blood pressure just because low blood pressure means a longer life. What he should be doing is to have his physician and dentist try to find out why he has low blood pressure, why he is underweight, why he is never really hungry. In many cases it will be found that some low infection is present from the gall bladder, large intestine, teeth, tonsils, or sinuses. The individual with low blood pressure due to some infection or gland deficiency may live a long time but he will not feel strong or live abundantly.

After removing the cause of low blood pressure, treatment consists of "plenty of sleep and rest, avoidance of strains and infections, proper diet and graded exercise."

HOW IS YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE?

Is it high? Is it low? Do you know what is the cause and what precautions to take in either case? Send today for this latest booklet by Dr. Barton entitled "How Is Your Blood Pressure?" (No. 108). It makes this interesting subject understandable by all. Send ten cents for each copy to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y., to cover cost of service and handling, and mention the name of this newspaper. Be sure to mention the booklet by name and number.

Octagon House

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The story so far: Quoniam I am a drowsy when I am in the post office mail. The next night the artist's wife, unscrupulous Marina Lorne, is murdered by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. A very busy, Cape Cod detective, conceals himself in the Octagon House, where he has learned that fact: Pam found $50,000 worth of emeralds which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering Marina dead in the garage; someone who smokes Turkish tobacco, was eavesdropping on Pam's story to learn the whereabouts of the emeralds. Then agreeable Tim Carr called on Assey. He is 30, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, smokes Turkish tobacco, is left handed and tells Assey he hated Marina.

Chapter Nine

News of Octagon House

MARINA never mentioned Cape Cod. Tim went on. "Never. I thought she came from the Middle West. She called herself Marina Fern. Not Frye, or Lorne. Fern. Like the plant. She was modeling at an art school I went to at night. Jack Lorne was in one of the classes, by the way, but I didn't know that then. Or that they happened to be married. Those were points she didn't bring up. Well, I fell for Marina, and not even Gran's japing snapped me out of it. In fact, I didn't emerge till the day I found $400 of mine, and all of Gran's jewelry, missing from our apartment. That emerged me."

"Why?" Assey wanted to know. "Most anyone might steal—" "Yes, most anyone might, except that Marina was the only person who knew about that money of mine. I'd sold some drawings—a major miracle. I never sold any before or afterwards. And I'd told Marina about it, and how I'd hidden it, and how I'd made a box of Gran on a bust of a trip. Gran didn't know anything about it."

"What'd you do?" "For three days I detected. Timothy said. "Marina had disappeared, no one at her boarding house knew where she'd moved. Tim third day, I found a key shop where the owner had made a duplicate of our key for her, and the time he made it checked with Marina's going and coming to our place one day. She'd apparently taken Gran's key from the hall table, gone, had the key made, come back and left Gran's in its place. That's what I found. I took it and he told me to take it. Gran on a bust of a trip. Gran didn't know anything about it."

Will Hold Joint Discussion About Poppy Day Plans

Kingston unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting on Friday, May 20, at the Memorial Building on O'Reilly street. Harry L. Kirchner, commander of Post No. 150, has announced that the meeting will be opened during the business of both Post and Auxiliary in order to provide joint discussion and cooperation on Poppy Day plans.

Poppy Day is a day observed throughout the United States by wearing memorial poppies in honor of the World War dead. It will be observed this year on May 25, the Saturday before Memorial Day. The Kingston unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, working as unpaid volunteers, will distribute the memorial flowers. Every penny contributed is used to support work of the American Legion and Auxiliary for the welfare of the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

Union Service of Lutheran Churches

This evening at 8 o'clock the congregations of the Redeemer and St. Paul's Lutheran Churches will be the guests of Trinity Lutheran Church at a short vespers service and presentation of "The Thunder Of The Sea." This sound motion picture was produced by the Board of American Missions of the United Lutheran Church. It tells the story of Christianity and the church down through the ages. Woven in it are the parts played by Martin Luther and Henry Muhlenberg in the church. The Rev. Mr. Gaenzle will give a short talk. All Lutherans are cordially invited to see the picture in the assembly rooms of the church. No admission or offering.

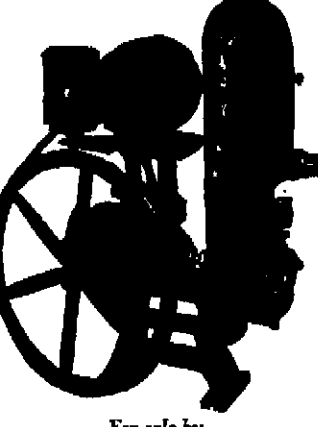

Bob—You haven't met my pretty wife yet, have you?
Gus—No, I didn't know you were a bigamist.

Running water for health's sake

Government surveys indicate that three out of four farm water supplies are unsafe enough to be unsafe. Add to this the risk of exposure when carrying water in severe weather. Vital reasons these, why you need piped water on your farm. With a Goulds Water System you can be sure of pure water and you are spared the risks of outside pumping. It's cheaper to buy a water system than it is to pay for sickness.

First Presbyterian Church Activities

On Friday seven members of the Christadelphians and their pastor, the Rev. McVey, were the guests of the Presbyterian Church in Highland at a social. Dancing, refreshments and a variety of games were enjoyed. Alma Burger, Edwina Schultz, Dorothy Kopf, the Rev. William J. McVey, Robert Anderson, Clifford Every, Donald Van Deusen and Irwin Thomas attended.

Dr. and Mrs. Putnam Cady, together with Mr. and Mrs. McVey and Mrs. John Terwilliger, were the guests at a luncheon on Thursday of Mrs. Katie Buckley. Dr. Cady, former minister of the church celebrated his 75th birthday on Friday.

This Wednesday at 7:45 the Christadelphian Chapter of Christian Endeavor will hold its bi-monthly social party in the lower assembly hall. President John Ennis of the society wishes a full turnout of all members and cordially invites all interested young people of the city to come out. The social committee has planned an enjoyable session.

On Tuesday, June 7, the business meeting and picnic party of the Women's Service League will take place at the summer home of Mrs. Harry Dederick.

Plans are now under way for the annual Children's Day program which will take place in the church auditorium on Sunday, June 19. At this time the Sunday School will close for the summer vacation.

Next Sunday, at four o'clock, the pastor will conduct a worship service at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, May 16.—The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Port Ewen Fire Department will be held in the firehouse this evening. Members are urged to be present, as the stockings ordered will be given out at this meeting and members are asked to be there to claim their own.

The weekly meeting of the Boy Scout Troop No. 26 will be held this evening.

Mrs. Charles Snyder of Kingston was a Saturday evening guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Short.

The Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps practice will be held this evening as usual.

The Missionary Society of the Reformed Church will hold its regular meeting at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. B. T. Van Aken. The word given in answer to roll call will be "Joy."

A meeting will be held at the firehouse at 8 o'clock this evening to make plans for the Memorial Day parade. Representatives of the various organizations are invited to attend.

The Priscilla Society will serve a strawberry short cake supper in the Methodist Episcopal Church house at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, May 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Short of Newburgh were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Short.

The ladies of the Church of the Presentation will hold their annual card party in St. Leo's Hall on Thursday evening. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Gregory Promoting Home Furnishing Sale

Tuesday, May 17, Gregory and Company, one of Kingston large home furnishing stores, will launch a sale in cooperation with a nation-wide drive sponsored by the American Furniture Retail Associates to lower furniture prices and sell fifty million dollars worth of stock in a short period.

Ralph J. Gregory, president of the 58-year-old store, stated that "We have joined with the American Furniture Retail Associates to do our bit as a member in promoting a sale of $25,000 worth of home furnishings. The purpose of this organization is to lower prices so that more goods can be sold, which in turn will have its effect in keeping the wheels of industry turning and lessen unemployment."

CHARGE HAGUE EVICTED HIM

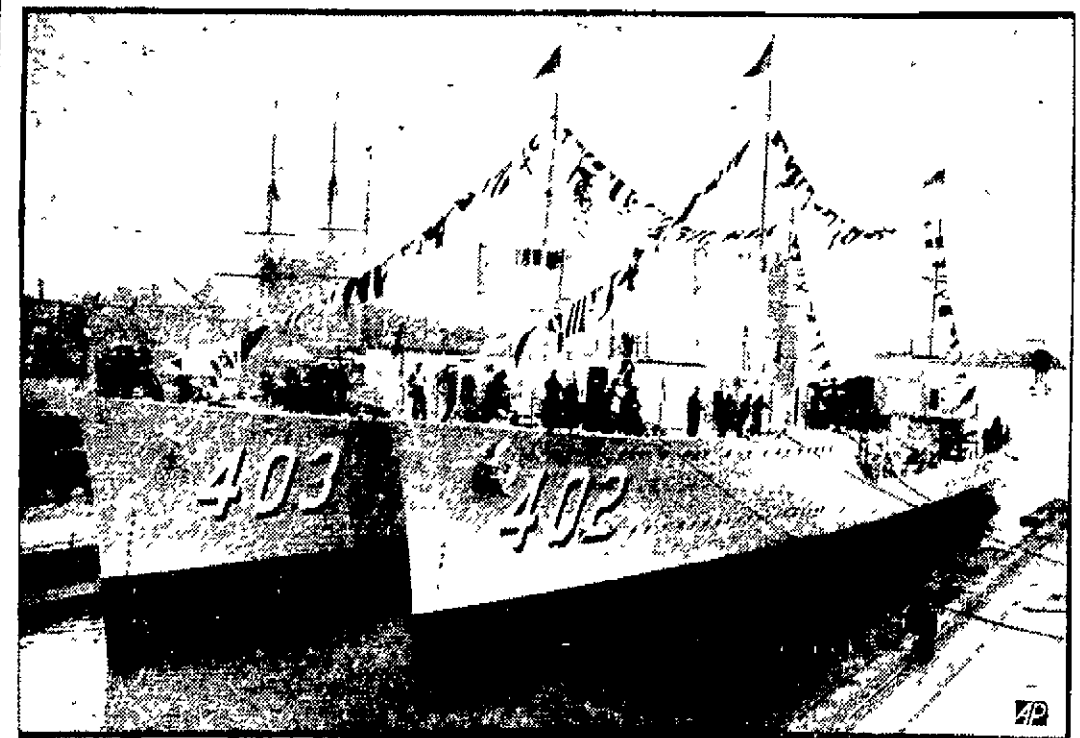

W. J. Carney, New Jersey regional CIO head, charged that the eviction of Rabbi Benjamin Plotkin (above) and his congregation Emanuel from the Jewish Community Center in Jersey City, N. J., was the result of Plotkin's political opposition to Mayor Frank Hague. Carney asked a Senate Civil Liberties Committee investigation of the ouster in a message to Senator Robert La Follette.

A VERY, VERY HOT "HOT SPOT"

On the day the Chateau Monterey, North Wildwood, N. J., night club, was to have opened, it was destroyed by fire, causing a $200,000 loss. One hundred firemen from two towns fought the blaze in vain.

K. of C. Nominates Officers Tonight

Tonight at the regular meeting, Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, will place in nomination the names of the officers who are to represent the organization during the ensuing year.

Along with the nomination of officers, plans will be presented for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the Council Building. The Celebration Committee recently held a meeting which was very largely attended and the plans formulated at that time will be made known to the entire membership at the meeting tonight.

Grand Knight Joseph J. Murphy made known the fact that Kingston Council is at this time not only preparing for the 25th anniversary celebration but plans are now rapidly taking shape for the exhumation of the Fourth Degree to be held in Albany on Sunday.

The increasing number of candidates seeking admission to the ranks of the Knights of Columbus in Kingston assure a Third Degree to be held during the early part of July.

The regular meeting this evening will get underway at 8:30 o'clock.

V.F.W. Ready for Albany Reunion June 28-July 2

Final arrangements for the 19th annual state encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, to be held in Albany from June 28 through July 2, have been completed. General Chairman Daniel F. Terry, of the Veterans, states that 8,000 delegates have registered for the convention. This means that with their families there will be 25,000 New York stagers arriving in Albany on the above date.

The distinguished guests who have accepted the invitation to attend are Governor Lehman, who will act as chief reviewing officer, Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward, U. S. N., commander of the Third Naval District, who will give the opening address at the convention; the Hon. Fiorello La Guardia, who will lead 1,000 of the "finest" (New York city policemen) in the parade, Brig. Gen. James J. Meade, U. S. M. C., Scott P. Squyres, commander-in-chief, V. F. W.; General William N. Haskell, commanding officer, N. Y. N. G.; Brig. Gen. Walter G. Robinson, the adjutant general; Rear Admiral Frank R. Lucher, commanding officer, N. Y. N. G.; Thomas P. Lyster, N. Y. department commander, V. F. W.

Other veterans' organizations that will be represented are Roy Monahan, commander of the Disabled American Veterans; Jeremiah Cross, department commander of the American Legion. There are 51 drum and bugle corps registered to compete at the Bleecker Stadium on June 30. The judges of this contest will be Suedden Weir and Major Perham T. Fay, U. S. M. C. R. There will be $2,000 in prizes in the competition.

A unique system of housing has been devised by the veterans' organizations for the 25,000 visitors. As it is impossible to house that many people in the hotels, any private family wishing to rent rooms to the veterans, upon contacting the housing committee of the Ten Eyck Hotel, will receive an examination card after their premises have been visited by the veterans group.

Albany will be decorated with patriotic decorations (from one end of the city to the other, every lamp post and city lighting fixture will be decorated with bannets and streamers).

The parade, which will be held Friday, July 1, will be reviewed by the governor and his staff, and by Admiral Woodward and his staff. Naval, military and veteran groups will participate. It is estimated there will be 10,000 people in the parade. The Military Order of Centies will stage their parades in the evenings.

The resolutions committee states that resolutions relating to preparedness, a navy second to none, a greatly enlarged mechanized army, and a crusade against

Henry Picard LOOKS THE SITUATION OVER!

"I've never favored one particular cigarette, Mr. Picard. I can see you do though. Do you find Camels different?"

Picard's game seems effortless. He's a long driver—in a tight spot, a heady strategist. "A cigarette, too, has to be sized up from a lot of angles," he says.

FAMOUS GOLFERS—men who need iron nerves and steady hands for that winning stroke—and millions of other people under the strain of everyday life—all appreciate this fact: Camels suit your cigarette taste from every angle. Naturally, Camels SET YOU RIGHT! There's a world of enjoyment in a cigarette like that. Smoke Camels yourself. See why they are so different. And note particularly the greater pleasure and contentment you experience from Camels' costlier tobaccos!

"LOADING SHIP" in a 60-hour stretch," says Captain Francis Dolan, "a man can't be fussy about food. I like a few Camels during and after meals 'for digestion's sake.' I sure like the comfort and contentment of Camels at mealtimes."

HELEN STANBURY, Director of Women's Traffic for United Air Lines, says on the subject of cigarettes: "I choose Camels for their mildness and good rich taste. They're never harsh. When the pace I go fatigues me, a Camel gives me a 'lift.'"

TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY:

"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco"

At auctions, Marvin Holloman, well-known planter, sees Camel buyers pay top prices for the finer grades of his crops. Mr. Holloman says: "At auctions the Camel buyers pay more and take the real choice lots of tobacco. That's why we tobacco planters, who know tobacco quality inside and out, make Camel our cigarette. Then we're sure we're smoking finer, COSTLIER tobaccos, and they sure make a big difference!"

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Mr. T. Strickland, who sold his highest grade tobacco to Camels. "Last year those Camel buyers bought up the finest lots of my tobacco. And they sure bid up to get them. There's a big difference in those expensive Camel tobaccos—so I smoke Camels myself. And there's your reason why most planters I know smoke Camels."

John T. Bone, who cultivates some of North Carolina's choicest leaf tobacco, remarks on the sale of his last crop: "Yes sir! I saw my best lots go for Camel cigarettes, and you can bet those Camel buyers paid top prices for them. It's no wonder I smoke the cigarette made of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Camels! Most planters smoke Camels too, for smokers who grow tobacco know tobacco."

Broadway: "There's Always a Woman." A spicy dish of murder and comedy is served with brilliant skill on the Broadway screen and becomes one of the hit pictures of the year because of its ability to combine high excitement with gay humor and to never lose sight of the fact that it should always be entertaining no matter what the situation. This then is the story of a private detective who begins to unravel a crime only to find a woman forger sticking her nose into the scene. Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas are a perfect team in the starring roles and Miss Blondell is especially valuable to the film's success. Others in the cast are Jerome Cowan, Frances Drake and Mary Astor. This Columbia picture is well worth seeing. Kingston: "Merrily We Live." In keeping with the current film trend to fantastic comedies, "Merrily We Live" rolls onto the Kingston screen in another rollicking travesty on modern living, modern ideas and conventional acceptances. Starring Brian Aherne and Constance Bennett, the production also features Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Bonita Granville and Tom Brown.

Orpheum: "Back in Circulation" and "Double Danger." Two fast moving thrill pictures are the double feature bill at the downtown theatre with Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay and Joan Blondell all featured in the opening murder mystery and with Whitney Bourne and Preston Foster co-starring in the other film.

Tomorrow Broadway: Same.

Kingston: "Love on a Budget" and "Flight Into Nowhere." The famous Jones Family has a newly married couple to worry about and advise in the first of the Kingston features and the whole show is a pretty good insight into the shoals and pitfalls that surround modern marriage. "Flight Into Nowhere" is a wild and tense airplane story as it tells of a young pilot who loses his plane over the jungle country in South America. He is taken in by natives and much happens in an exciting way before he gets back to civilization. Jack Holt is the star in this one.

Orpheum: Same.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—"Four Men and a Prayer" is a globe-trotting adventure. It sounds notes reminiscent of "Beau Geste" and again of "The Three Musketeers" but winds up on its own power as a pretty good movie.

The four men are George Sanders, David Niven, William Henry and the new English young man, Richard Greene. The prayer is, as one might assume, the beautiful and heavily wardrobe Loretta Young, but a earnest resolve to "get" the intriguers who discredited and later murdered the boys' army officer father (C. Aubrey Smith).

Jumping back and forth from England to America to India to South America to Egypt, the story packs a great deal more power and suspense in its early and middle stages than at the end. But it offers excitement enough, and there is a good deal of light comedy supplied by Niven, Bill Henry and Miss Young. Director John Ford seldom lets Loretta or her wardrobe hide the adventurous aspects of his tale, and he presents one whole of a sequence in which J. Edward Bromberg shows the kind of acting Hollywood isn't using enough.

The new boy, Greene, was taken to the ladies' hearts for his looks as well as his capable performance, but in the acting department George Sanders is the stand-out, with David Niven uncommonly good in a blend of serious and comic characterization.

More Melodrama "Stolen Heaven" is unusual in its combination of classical music with a fast cops-and-robbers melodrama. Gene Raymond and Olympie Bradna play the jewel thieves who, making their escape from pursuing police, seek refuge in a woodland home which turns out to be the abode of an aged con-artist (Lewis Stone). Over Gene persuades the faltering old man to stage a comeback, a plan which would give Gene and company a chance at money to make good their escape.

Director Andrew L. Stone's use of music—Liszt, Chopin et al.—to further his story is interesting. Miss Bradna acts more like Snow White than like a tough adventuress, but she has charm and sings and dances well.

A Musical

"Doctor Rhythm," one suspects on sober reflection, is really not Bing Crosby's best picture but it seems so at very frequent intervals in its running.

Bing himself goes pleasantly through the usual romance with the leading lady, croons to his fans' taste, and breaks precedent by kissing the girl—once.

Ulster Theatre

Heard Workers

Last Thursday evening a large group attended the general monthly meeting of the Ulster County Theatre Association at Byrne Hall. Prof. Voorhees, of the English department of Bard College, was the speaker of the evening. He sketched the development of the well-known Bard College Theatre from its beginning five years ago and discussed the place of the theatre in America today. He contrasted the standards of the Broadway show world with those of little theatres such as Bard's and the association's. Prof. Voorhees praised the work of the local group and said: "You are most fortunate in having here not only a group of enthusiastic actors and workers, but in having among you an experienced playwright and producer."

A short business meeting followed and the association announced its intention to present its summer production early in July. At the present time no play has been decided upon. During the summer the association will suffer the temporary loss of Albert E. Milliken and his technical staff to the new Woodstock Playhouse, which will be under the direction of Robert Elwyn.

Little can be accomplished without systematic effort. Often the mere falling into a routine will furnish the necessary system, but sometimes it takes some thought and planning.

Memorila Service For A. G. Elting

New Paltz, May 16.—A memorial service for Arthur Graham Elting was held at 2 o'clock Sunday, May 15, 1938, in the New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church. Mr. Elting died at John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland, on May 3. He was the son of Mary McLaury Elting and Jesse M. Elting and was born in New Paltz. He attended school in New Paltz and Cambridge and was graduated from the stenographic department of Eastman's Business College in Poughkeepsie. He held secretarial positions in New York city but gasoline propelled vehicles of all types fascinated him. He was one of the first licensed operators in his section of the country. In 1913 he settled in Denver, Colo., where he became associated with the automobile and motorcycle industries. During the last nine years of his active business life Mr. and Mrs. Elting resided in Salt Lake City, Utah. Seeking health he spent two winters in Florida. During the last weeks of his fatal illness he was and content, uncomplaining and considerate. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Harry W. Ritters and Mrs. Dorothy Ingalls of Greenwich, Conn., and Mrs. J. Peter Knauth of Kingston; one son, Jesse M. Elting of Great Falls, Mont., and his widow, Mrs. Nell Billings Elting of Salt Lake City.

Village Notes. New Paltz, May 16.—Country Life Club held its annual banquet at Clinton Ford Pavilion on Thursday at 7 p. m. Committee chairmen were: June Messner, general chairman; Olga Schleede, arrangements; Rita Ethonimus, songs; Helen Engle, tickets. George Stubbins, publicity. Among the guests were Milton Cohen.

Legion Auxiliary Announces Several Good Scholarships

The American Legion Auxiliary, Department of New York, through their Ulster county chairman for the Education of World War Orphans, Mrs. A. S. Messinger, 136 Andrew street, this city, wishes to announce the following:

State Scholarships. The state of New York, again this year, provides 40 scholarships in any approved college, university or normal school of this state to boys and girls of veterans who served their country and died during the period of the war, April 7, 1917, to July 2, 1921, whether the mother is alive or not.

The requirements are the same as last year and examinations will be held in all secondary schools of the state, where Regents are given, on June 20 to 24.

Scholarships to West Point. The President will appoint 40 boys in the United States, sons of veterans who died during the war period, to West Point.

They must pass the regular mental and physical examinations. One has been held already, but another will be held in June.

For information, write to the Adjutant General of the Army, War Department, Washington, D. C., sending proof of the father's death.

Scholarships to Annapolis. The President will appoint 40 boys in the United States, sons of veterans who died during the war period, to Annapolis.

They must pass the regular mental and physical examinations. For information, write to the Navy Department, Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C., giving proof of father's death.

The Laverne Jones Scholarship. (a) To Cornell University. A scholarship, paying tuition, for children of living as well as deceased veterans of the World War. If the veteran is living he must have served at least six months before the armistice.

(b) Teachers' College, Columbia University. A scholarship for nurses only.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Wall Street Scene: It is about three o'clock on a warm, summery afternoon. The scene is a broker's office, perhaps an underhand peg from where Washington took the oath of office.

It is certainly no further than that. A young fellow who has been with the firm only a short time stares out the window. He is bored, and tired of having nothing to do. There just isn't anything for him to do.

So he walks into the office of a junior executive. To complain about his lack of responsibility. He really puts up a good spiel. The junior executive looks down at his own desk, and smiles a little reminiscently. The desk is a crossword puzzle. The crossword is completely worked.

LEXINGTON avenue scene: It is the going-home hour and New York has just been bathed in electric light. Of course, it is still day. But the lights come on early in New York.

Suddenly, around the corner and down the street comes a blind man. He is playing a violin and with him is walking a blind woman, probably his wife.

I am standing perhaps 20 feet from the pair, to one side. I run my hand into my pocket for a coin. Since I make no noise they cannot possibly hear me. And being blind, of course, they can not see me. Nevertheless, the split second the coin is withdrawn from my pocket the "blind" woman turns, says "Thank you," and advances to meet me. She raises the cup unerringly to the hand that holds the coin. The coin rings into the cup. As they toddle off the old man's violin breaks into an old "blues" song, "Out In The Cold Again."

BARBERSHOP scene: This one happens in the basement shop of a hotel. The barber is talking to a man whose face is a coil of hot, steaming towels. A manicurist, who is not a blonde, has the patron's right hand.

Nothing is said. Nothing out of the ordinary. But you can tell when somebody important is having the works in a barbershop in New York. You know it is somebody whose name means something. So you just hang around for a few moments. And finally ask for a shine, although it is really one of the few times you can recall that you don't need a shine. And then, eventually, you win. For that guy can't stay under the towels all day. Not without being per-boiled. Well, it's an old friend revealed to you. As the towels are uncoupled, you catch the ruddy, familiar countenance of Vincent Lopez. back from a long, long jaunt on the road.

Cornwell Defends His Stand

May 14, 1933.

Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Dear Sir:

In your issue of May 11, 1933, you carried an account of the meeting held by the board of public works, and your reporter who covered the meeting included in his story certain statements which evidently were from a verbal blast of the mayor. The bone of contention was a communication I had sent to the board in reference to calling a certain before the council the Boulevard before the council road. I was well aware of the fact that the common council had to act on the matter when it came to making the name of the street legal, but as the mayor harps on the fact that streets, sewers, lights, etc., are responsibilities of the board of public works, I only accorded them the courtesy of taking up the matter and if it met with their approval, they then could have submitted a recommendation to the common council and I would have introduced it at the meeting. To substantiate some of the above facts let me quote from a communication the mayor sent to the common council under date of May 5, 1933:

"I realize, of course, that in introducing resolutions concerning the work recommended for the board of public works you are probably reflecting the wishes of one or more of your constituents. It has occurred to me that perhaps your way would be made easier if you frankly admitted that streets, sewers, lights, etc., were, under the city charter, responsibilities of the common council, but that you had no power or authority under the law to obtain the improvements they request. The common council, at one time in the city's history, had full administrative power over the street department, but when the charter was amended, I believe in 1915, this function of local government was transferred from the common council to a board known as the board of public works."

I am still of the opinion and in that opinion I am joined by others, the board of public works could have made the recommendation to the common council, and if they did not care to do so after I extended them the courtesy, much better and more tactful methods could have been used by the mayor, whose comments no doubt were intended for the reporter's ears. Apparently an attempt to ridicule me in the eyes of people of the ward I represent and the people of the city, it appeared to be a golden opportunity to take an antagonistic attitude and burst forth in speech. Such an attitude is no doubt due to my action on certain matters which came before the council and which I opposed. I do not quiver when the mayor threatens; neither do I jump when he cracks the whip. Why does not the board of public works invite the members of the council to some of its meetings? To me it seems the answer will be, "you are welcome to come to the board meetings." It might not be a bad idea if the common council considered taking the necessary steps to abolish the board of public works and in its place create a committee from the council to take control, such committee to be elected by the council itself.

I have criticized the condition of Linderman avenue in letters to the board since the first of the year, but I still am waiting to hear from it. Perhaps those letters went to the wrong department or the waste basket, but whatever happened to them, the residents of that street would like to know when to expect the work to be completed.

In fairness to myself, the people of the ward and the city, I am sending this to you for publication.

Very truly yours,
Eugene Cornwell

Albany Avenue Baptist Activities

Wednesday was a most interesting day at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. It was the occasion of the joint luncheon of the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies' Aid Society, and 60 members of the societies were present. Mrs. J. Grove Brown, president of the Women's Missionary Society, presided at the luncheon, and Mrs. Florence W. Cuddeback gave a number of selections on the violin.

The speaker, Miss Ellen van Slyke was introduced by Mrs. W. E. Simmons and gave a most unusual and instructive address on "The Netherlands Ladies," which was illustrated with maps, pictures and curios. Miss van Slyke has just returned from an extended trip to the islands, and her address was filled with many interesting personal experiences. After this program the Ladies' Aid Society went into business session for its annual meeting and re-elected the following officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. Virgil Brooks; vice-president, Mrs. Charles L. Arnold; secretary, Mrs. Harry Klotz; treasurer, Mrs. B. W. Healy.

The four circles made reports through their chairmen, Mrs. G. S. Groves, Mrs. R. L. Whitebeck, Mrs. G. L. Lasher and Mrs. E. J. Davis. The circles reported a little over seven hundred dollars raised during the year, when in addition to the receipts of the society.

Runaway Boys Picked Up in City

Edward Maleganski, 16, and Lawrence Walorny, 16, both of 18th street, Brooklyn, ran away from home the last of the week and arrived in Kingston to seek jobs as caddies on the local golf links. They sought the now Myron J. Michael School as a sleeping quarters but were chased out by the watchman.

AMERICA WATCHES AS BRAZIL BLOCKS FASCIST COUP

LEADER of outlawed Fascist Green Shirts, Plinio Salgado (above), is credited with plot to seize Brazil. Rold on his home yielded 3,000 swastika-marked daggers.

FASCIST GREEN SHIRT RALLIES such as this in Sao Paulo, industrial center, fed the political movement which led to recent bloody attempt by Integralists (or Fascists) to seize Brazilian government at Rio de Janeiro. President Vargas, whose prohibition of Nazi activities aroused German protest, himself helped quell Green Shirts revolt, shooting plotters from palace window. Whether Vargas, who assumed authoritarian powers last November, can keep a whip hand over a million and a half Italians—mostly Fascist—and 200,000 Germans in Brazil, time will tell.

U. S. CONCERN over European "isms" grows, as diplomats feel that more than monuments such as this one in Rio de Janeiro must knit western hemisphere together.

PEACE of Christ, whose statue towers 125 feet on Corcovado mountain overlooking Rio de Janeiro, didn't extend to Guanabara palace four miles away—scene of Integralists' abortive attempt to oust Pres. Getulio Vargas, capture Brazil.

$100,000 RACE GETS TOP BILLING

GOLFER'S DREAM—playing on famous St. Andrew's course in Scotland—will materialize for Edgar Kennedy, movie comedian now en route to England where he'll make a picture for Gaumont. He took out the old iron at Albuquerque.

SAMUEL RIDDLE of Philadelphia owns War Admiral as well as sire, Man o' War. The course will be 1 1/4 miles.

'WINNER TAKE ALL' match race between War Admiral (above) and Seabiscuit May 30 at Belmont is hailed as turf's greatest match in years. Prize is $100,000. Kurtzinger is up on War Admiral, 4-year-old son of Man o' War.

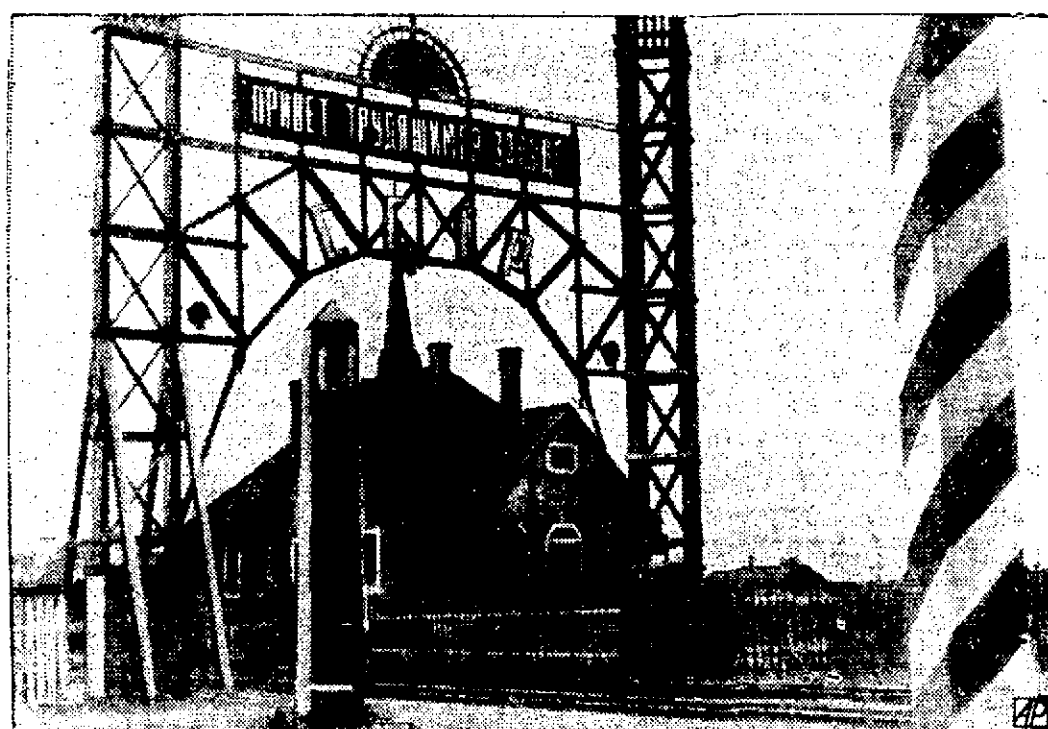

GROUND HAZARD that put Stewardess Lillian Kroll of Washington, D. C., into Memphis hospital was a tin can, on which she cut her hand. She'd flown 200,000 miles without injury. New York to Memphis line is her usual route.

C. S. HOWARD of San Francisco owns Seabiscuit. The last important match race was in 1935 when Seabiscuit won.

5-YEAR-OLD Seabiscuit (above), with Johnny Pollard up, is a bay, lighter than War Admiral. The Biscuit is a grandson of Man o' War, has earned $251,000, won 27 races in 57 starts; Admiral earned $231,000, won 12 races in 16 starts.

Ed Barrett Makes Hole in One at Wiltwyck Golf Club

By Joe Kelly

Ed Barrett put the Wiltwyck Golf Club on the map Saturday morning when he made a hole in one. And he elected himself to the "Hole in One Club", joining the few fortunate linksmen who have turned in the feat in various sections of the country. That Sergeant Perry-Eddie Jones heavyweights match should be a hummer next Friday night at the municipal auditorium. That was some right Perry threw at Johnny Bleski last week, flattening the Polish Pride in 1:32 of the first round. "Guess I just walked into it," said Bleski in the Kingston Hospital where he was examined after the "typhoon." Johnny still thinks he can beat Perry. But he's the only one.

Sammy Travetello, Poughkeepsie, is down for five with the Rodrigo, Amsterdam pride. Wednesday the A.B.C. banquet will be held in the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Marshall Eldridge, a favorite in the outdoor race Sunday and winner last year, tipped over in the Hudson near Ulster Landing and his chances of finishing were dimmed until Zeke Boss gave him a lift. The superintendent of the city painters rescued Eldridge and helped him condition his boat to resume the grind down the Hudson. Miss Ellen Whalen, New York school teacher, week-ending at her summer camp favored the sportsman with a cup of coffee to warm him up. "Lucky guys these fellows who are rescued," said Zeke as the pretty miss handed Eldridge the coffee. "I wouldn't mind a stimulant myself after that wet job."

Kingston High School's track team made NYMA look sick Saturday at Cornwall. Mike Weiner, Bill Von Essen, Gene Wren, Tommy Maines and Company turned in a fine job. The tennis boys didn't do so well. But they're looking forward to the next match. Bill Well and Tremper came out on top in the doubles to help Kingston High split the gold match with Poughkeepsie Saturday. May 24 is set as the organization date for the American Basketball League. President John J. O'Brien says has applications for new franchises. Eight or 10 clubs will make up the loop.

Maroon Netmen Lose Match Saturday at Cornwall 6 to 1

The Big Three Three-Year-Olds

New York, May 16 (AP)—Lawrence Stageshand and Dauber—there's the big three of the three-year-old turf division.

Laurin won the Kentucky Derby; Stageshand came through in the Santa Anita Derby and Handicap, and last Saturday Dauber entered the select group with a galloping score in the muddy Preakness—richest race of the year exclusively for three-year-olds.

Dauber has bowed to both his rivals but from his performance in the Preakness he appears worthy of giving them a race when they look up again, probably in Arlington Park classic late in July.

Dauber's next start will be in the $50,000 added Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park June 4. The Foxcatcher Colt needed to be a mudder in the Preakness. Not since Nellie Morse won in 1924 had weather conditions been so bad for Pimlico's rich race. A biting rain made 25,000 fans very uncomfortable and turned the racing strip into a quagmire. Yet the son of Pennant-Skip O'War stepped the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:59 4-5, and three seconds slower than the track record established three days before by Pompon in the Dixie Handicap.

Maurice (Moose) Peters, 21-year-old Brantford, N. D., jockey, had a snug hold on the reins as Dauber hit the finish line seven lengths in front of Townsend B. Martin's Cravat, the surprise of the race. Menow was third.

Tom Yawkey's Boston Red Sox Look Good in American Lead

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a long time coming, but the way things are moving now, it begins to look like the benevolent Mr. Tom Yawkey has hit the jackpot after tossing all those millions into his Boston Red Sox.

Heading westward for their first swing 'round the circuit, the Gold Hoosers are in first place in the American League and sporting an eight-game winning streak.

The chief factors in the recent successes are the aging but still agile left arm known as Robert Moses Grove.

He chalked up victory No. 6 yesterday by a 4-2 margin over the Washington Senators, and is well on the road to his most successful campaign since his 31-game championship year back in 1931.

All in all, what with the champion New York Yankees and the highly rated Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians showing signs of monkey wrenches in the machinery, the diamond studded Sox may wind up as the surprise package of the year.

Senators 4th Through yesterday's defeat, the Senators dropped to fourth place in the league standings, and the Yankees and Indians, whose games with Philadelphia and Chicago were rained out, advanced to a tie for second.

The Chicago Cubs dropped their second overtime decision in a row as the Pittsburgh Pirates, with Johnny Dickshot's single in the 11th sending the winning run across for a 4-3 Buc victory. The Cardinals also went into overtime before nipping the Cincinnati Reds, 12-11, on Pepper Martin's pinch single in the tenth.

Boston's Beane exploded a three-home-run punch and trounced the Dodgers, 10-7. The Giants and Phillies were rained out for the second straight day.

Millbrook Girl Is Prize Winner Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Jane Luce of Kansas City, Mo., yesterday won the advanced horsemanship cup at the Skidmore College horse show, final event of the week-end May Day festivities.

Other honors in the advanced horsemanship group went to Marjetta Sullivan, Bridgeport, Conn., and Margaret Kennedy, Millbrook, N. Y.

Winners in the intermediate division included Dorothy Ulfman, Bay Side, N. Y., and Lucella Woods, Bronxville, N. Y.

Another Hicks Golfer Convent Station, N. J., May 7 (AP)—Jarvis S. Hicks, brother of Helen Hicks, former national women's golf champion, won the 17th annual Morris County Golf Club invitation tournament Saturday by defeating Edmund H. Driggs, Jr., on the 19th hole. Both were from Long Island, N. Y.

Bartender Wins Atlantic City, N. J., May 16 (AP)—A crowd of 10,000 saw the finish of the annual Atlantic City horse show Saturday night, as Bartender, a chestnut gelding of the May Top stables of Mrs. Edgar Mayer of Port Chester, N. Y., captured the Marlborough-Blenheim open jumper championship.

Father, 70, Greets Stork's 30th Visit Benton, Ill.—Becoming a father is just as thrilling as it was 50 years ago, according to William T. Willis, seventy years old, of Benton, who ought to know, as he is the father of 30 children.

With the birth of a son at the Willis home recently, it was revealed that this was the thirtieth time the stork had stopped at his door—the eleventh time for the fourth Mrs. Willis, who is forty-five years old.

Willis has outlived three wives and 16 children.

Before a rain soaked crowd of 25,000 William duPont, Jr.'s Dauber won the 48th running of the Preakness in 1:59 4-5, by seven lengths, living up to his reputation as a great mudder. Dauber is shown finishing (far in front of Cravat (left background) a rank outsider, who ran second, and Menow, who finished third.

Maroon Harriers Overpower NYMA

The Kingston High School track squad completed its regular schedule of the season on Saturday afternoon in Cornwall where the Kias-Connick forces hung up their third consecutive impressive win of the year by the overwhelming total of 76-1-3 to 27-2-3. Out of the 12 events, nine firsts were annexed by the Maroon and White warriors with Captain Bill Von Essen, Kenny Douglas, Tommy Maines, Gene Wren, Mike Weiner, Joe Gilday and Jessie Shultis sharing the honors.

Summaries:

Running Events.

100 Yard Dash—Winner, Weiner (K); second, Von Essen (K); third, Caprice (C) in time of 16 flat.

220—Winner, Weiner (K); second, Von Essen (K); third, Mervin (NYMA) in time of 23.6.

440—Winner, Wren (K); second, Cole (K); third, Rowe (NYMA) in time of 52.

Perry-Jones Match Clinched for Next Friday Night Here

GALENTO CELEBRATES HIS VICTORY

After finishing off Nathan Mann with a second round knockout in their New York bout, Tony Galeto hurried to his Orange, N. J., home to greet hundreds of admirers who flocked to the place. Here Tony demonstrated, between cups of beer, how he "put away" the Connecticut boy while Mrs. Galeto looks him over for any bath scars.

White fought on the same card with Perry in Boston when the West Point negro went there for the eastern division tournament after winning the Diamond Belt heavyweight title in Albany last fall.

Although a light-heavyweight, Perry had no trouble in the heavy class and came through with flying colors because of his punching power and durability.

Perry and Eddie Jones should make one of the most sensational fights ever seen in the auditorium, the opinion of Ben M. Hecker, boxing chairman of the Adirondack A. C., who sanctions the matches.

"Both boys are hard punchers," said Hecker. "And I think they'll give the Kingston fans a thrill a second when they begin slugging it out."

Tanillo-Liz. Joey Tanillo, the Highland Thurman, who jumped into the ring last Friday and challenged Charlie Rafines, has been matched with Carlo Liz, the Albany thumper, who defeated the Saugerties bomber, boxing him twice during their five rounds.

Tanillo, who was headed for a match with Mario Severino, scheduled to star last winter, but had to quit on account of a severe cold, has not boxed in more than two months. He has been training at the N. M. C. A. with Tommy Zito as his coach. "Tanillo is ready to step into fast rounds," said Tommy.

The Highlander scored two victories over Liz in previous meetings, but whether he'll be able to repeat over the flashy little stateside who has learned a lot under the guidance of Frankie Minnie, Albany lightweight star, remains to be seen.

Liz had bowed to Charlie Rafines in a three rounder and was on the short end of the pickings last week, but blazed away to score an impressive victory over the game little Saugerties slugger who slugged so much heart in losing the old Toy Bulldog of the ring, Mickey Walker.

Indications are that the Tanillo-Liz battle will be a repetition of the scrap the upstart had with Rafines.

Sammy Travetello, the Poughkeepsie bantamweight, who defeated Len Sarinelli, champ of the Adirondack A. C., last Friday, will go the rounds with Vic Rodrigo of Amsterdam, one of the cleverest 115 pounders in northern New York.

Rienzo Juniors Defeat Newkirks Saturday morning at Hasbrouck Park the Rienzo Juniors won its initial game of the season by defeating the Newkirk Aces. After a 12 inning battle Johnny Perry decided the game with a homer in the 12th inning. Chris Rienzo, manager of the Rienzo A. C. Juniors, was greatly pleased by his boys winning their first real game. Anyone wishing to play Rienzo A. C. call 2930-J.

Week's Schedule For City League

This week's schedule of games in the City Baseball League, at the Athletic Field, is as follows:

Tuesday, Gruenewald vs. Kyanize.

Wednesday, Jones Dury vs. Hedricks.

Thursday, Closi A. C. vs. Knights of Columbus.

Patrons of the league are asked to note that the third game is slated for Thursday instead of Friday. This is because of the high school game scheduled for May 20.

Barrett Joins the "Hole in One" Club That great ambition of every golfer to make a hole in one was realized Saturday afternoon by Edward Barrett of 282 Albany avenue. Playing at Wiltwyck Links, Barrett made the second hole of this fine nine hole course in one.

Barrett is the first golfer to score a hole in one on the Wiltwyck course since it was built by Tom Goodman five years ago. By his feat, Barrett automatically elected himself to membership in the "Hole in One Club," to which only a few fortunate golfers from various sections of the country belong.

Barrett is a member of the Wiltwyck Club.

That scrap between Sergeant Charlie Perry and Eddie Jones is definitely on for next Friday night at the municipal auditorium.

Perry agreed to return this week, following last Friday's scraps, but not until after considerable persuasion, because the New Yorker's reputation as a hard hitter has traveled fast and far.

"Maybe I'm not ready for Jones," said the West Point Cavalryman who flattened Johnny Bleski, the Pounding Pole from Scotia, in one minute and 32 seconds of the first round.

Perry had read about the terrific slugfest Jones and Billy White of New England put up two weeks ago. "That boy Jones surely must be able to hit, and he surely has what it takes if he stood up for five rounds with this Mr. White."

White fought on the same card with Perry in Boston when the West Point negro went there for the eastern division tournament after winning the Diamond Belt heavyweight title in Albany last fall.

Although a light-heavyweight, Perry had no trouble in the heavy class and came through with flying colors because of his punching power and durability.
